$45,200 GRANT WILL AID I M P PRODUCTIONS

Better classroom learning aids for vocational education will be developed during the coming year through a $45,200 grant to Cal Poly from the California Department of Education. Clyde P. Hostetter (Director, Instructional Materials Program) said the grant was for production of filmstrips and other visual aids for teaching vocational subjects at the high school and community college level.

Materials produced by IMP are sold on a non-profit basis to school systems. Currently, all 50 states and about 30 foreign countries are using materials produced at the university. The new grant from the state Department of Education was made from federal funds for improvement of vocational education. It is the eighth such grant to the university in as many years.

Cal Poly has won national awards for materials produced by earlier grants. A sound filmstrip kit on the relationship between ecology and agriculture received a gold medal from the International Film and TV Festival of New York. Another filmstrip series on new careers in agriculture received a special commendation from the American Personnel Guidance Association.

WOMEN'S P E WORKSHOP WILL OPEN ON MONDAY

Topics ranging from the latest techniques of coaching, cycling and other sports to folk dance, photography, and training student leaders will be discussed during a two-week workshop to be held beginning on Sunday (Aug. 5) at Cal Poly. Known as the California Physical Education Workshop for Women in Secondary Schools, the program is expected to attract more than 300 teachers from throughout the state.

Joan Parker of Berkeley, presently a member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness with offices in Washington, D.C., and chairman of the committee which is staging the workshop, said it is being planned as a "truly unique experience in total involvement" for participants. Joint sponsors of the event, which has been held at Cal Poly for the past 23 years, are the California Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation; the State Department of Education, and the university.

Dr. Robert Mott (Head, Men's Physical Education), who is coordinator for the workshop for women in physical education, said that four quarter units of professional credit for each week, or a total of eight units, can be earned by those who attend the event. The women's workshop is held in conjunction with a similar program for men in physical education and athletics, which has been held at Cal Poly for the past 25 years. The men's workshop began yesterday (Monday, July 30) and will continue through Aug. 10.

A traditional highlight of both workshops is a joint session, which will be held this year on Wednesday, Aug. 8, at 11 a.m. in the Cal Poly Theatre. Speaker for the joint session will be Robert J. Beckus, who is legislative advocate in Sacramento for CAHPER. He is expected to discuss the current status of legislation affecting physical education.

116 STUDENTS WILL RECEIVE WRASSE FUNDS

One hundred and sixteen new and continuing students at Cal Poly will be assisted by $500 Wrasse Scholarships during the 1973-74 academic year. The $58,000 in scholarship assistance is provided from income derived from the estate of Leopold Edward Wrasse, an eccentric Fresno County farmer who willed the estate to the university.

Wrasse amassed his wealth by frugal living and investments in savings accounts and insurance policies. A requirement for all recipients of the Wrasse scholarship is that they earn $250 or more within the 12-month period before the award. This reflects Wrasse's concern with thrift and work.

The scholarships are available to agricultural students entering or continuing their education at Cal Poly, and to any graduate of Caruthers High School who attends Cal Poly. Recipients may reapply for the awards each year.

Fifty-eight of the 1973-74 Wrasse Scholarship recipients will be new students at Cal Poly this fall and 58 will be continuing students.

C A T A OFFICER PRAISES UNIVERSITY SUPPORT

Gordon W. Tibbs, a vice president of the California Agricultural Teachers Association, used a letter written recently to President Robert E. Kennedy to praise Cal Poly for its continued support of CATA programs and activities. While expressing appreciation for university support, Tibbs said:

" . . . There is no doubt in my mind that the facilities and expertise at Cal Poly have been a mainstay in whatever success the California Agricultural Teachers Association has enjoyed during my many years with the Association . . . As Vice President of the Secondary Schools Division (of CATA), please accept my thanks on behalf of the Secondary teachers of this state for your untiring efforts . . ."

Tibbs currently is director of agriculture for San Benito Joint Union High School in Hollister.

STEVE HUMANN APPOINTED ASSISTANT BASKETBALL COACH

Appointment of Steve K. Humann, 27, to the position of assistant varsity basketball coach and physical education instructor at Cal Poly was announced jointly today by Vic Buccola (Director of Athletics) and Carl C. Cummins (Dean of Human Development and Education). Humann, who coached the Cal Poly junior varsity basketball team to a 17-6 record and the conference JV championship, will succeed Lynn Archibald. The latter has resigned and accepted a job on the staff of Jerry Tarkanian at University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Humann is nearing completion of his master's degree requirements in Physical Education at Cal Poly. He served as a graduate assistant coach last season while pursuing studies toward an M.A. degree. Humann came to Cal Poly from California State University, San Francisco, where he handled scouting and recruiting for two years (1970-72) under head basketball coach Jerry Waugh. The Gators were Far Western Conference champions during Humann's two years as assistant coach.

STATUS REPORT ON SALARY INCREASES FOR 1973-74

A memorandum received by President Robert E. Kennedy last week from the Office of the Chancellor, California State University and Colleges, presented the most recent status report on the effort to gain approval of the Cost of Living Council for the 1973-74 salary increases granted to employees of the state universities and colleges. The memorandum reads:

"We have been advised by the Administrator of the Office of Wage Stabilization, Cost of Living Council, both academic and nonacademic employees. (The latter includes executive, administrative and support staff.) The statement we received begins as follows:

'It is hereby ordered that no wage or salary increases for the subject employees shall be paid or otherwise implemented prior to issuance of an order by the Council . . . '

"The challenge was issued because our overall increases exceed the 5.5% standard under the economic stabilization program.

"We were requested to provide certain information. With the exception of certain five-year historical data, we had already provided this information in our submission of July 10, 1973. A written response is being mailed today.

"Because of this challenge, the pay increases granted by the Board of Trustees will not be included in the August pay checks. However, whatever increases are ultimately approved will be effective July 1, 1973. As soon as we learn any more of the status of the salary increases, we will let you know."

The president said employees will be kept informed of any additional progress on status of the salary increases as information is received.

PROPER USE OF UNIVERSITY NAME, ZIP CODE URGED

A reminder on the proper uses of the university name and mailing address has been issued by the Information Services Office. The statement pointed out that the university zip code is 93407 and pointed out that "San Luis Obispo" is a part of the correct name of the university.

The reminder emphasized that any time the name "California Polytechnic State University" appears it should be followed by a comma and the location name. The only exception should be when "California Polytechnic State University" appears on one line of an address and "San Luis Obispo, CA 93407" appears immediately below.

Questions on the proper use of the university name and the new Zip code can be directed to the Information Services Office, Adm-210, 546-2246.

Type font elements for IBM Selectric typewriters that have broken teeth and can no longer be used are being collected by the Information Services Office. Campus offices that wish to dispose of broken type elements are asked to forward them via campus mail or bring them to the Information Services Office, Adm-210.

BADMINTON MATCHES SCHEDULED TOMORROW EVENING

Two of the nation's top-ranked badminton players will take part in exhibition matches to be presented tomorrow (Wednesday, Aug. 1) evening in the Men's Gymnasium. Scheduled as part of the 26th annual California Workshop for Physical Education and Athletic Coaching, the matches will be part of a demonstration of badminton starting at 7 p.m. in the university's Men's Gymnasium. Admission will be free and the public is invited to attend.

Participants in the exhibition matches will include Dave Ogata and Mike Walker, both members of the Pasadena Badminton Club; Ron Deaver of Fresno; Manju Thakurdesai, a former state champion in India; and Jim Crabbe of the Men's Physical Education Department at Cal Poly.

Ogata and Walker, both coaches for the Manhattan Beach Badminton Club, are among the top four men's doubles teams in the nation. Both are "A" players and Walker is also nationally ranked as a singles player. Mrs. Thakurdesai, the wife of Sukhakar Thakurdesai (School of Architecture and Environmental Design) is a strong mixed doubles player, according to Crabbe, a specialist in badminton on the workshop staff.

Crabbe said the purpose of exhibitions is to provide people in the Central Coast area, as well as participants in the workshop, an opportunity to see some of the nation's best players and visit with them.

THOROUGHBRED COLT SOLD FOR $11,500

An unnamed yearling Thoroughbred colt from the foundation horse program at Cal Poly, sold for $11,500 in the Hollywood Park Summer Select Sale held recently in Inglewood. The colt, out of Why So and sired by Determined, was purchased by the Hansen Stock Farm of Hemet. The yearling filly was one of 102 offered for sale in the annual auction. The sale average was $9,812 per head.

The unnamed colt was prepared for the sale by Caryl Black of La Habra, who will be a sophomore animal science major in the fall. The self-supporting horse program, operated by the Cal Poly Foundation, augments instructional work in the horse courses offered by the Animal Science Department. About 250 students annually participate in the horse program.

RIVAS NAMED TO C S U C ASSOCIATE DEAN POSITION

The appointment of Vicente Rivas to the position of associate dean of student affairs and coordinator of the Education Opportunity Program and special services for The California State University and Colleges was announced last week by W. B. Langsdorf, vice chancellor, academic affairs, for the college and university system.

Dr. Rivas has an extensive background in education, according to Dr. Langsdorf. He was one of the first Educational Opportunity Program directors in the system while at California State University, San Diego, where he also was director of a special Educational Professions Development Act project and co-director of teacher trainers.

A graduate of both Cal State, San Diego, and University of Pittsburgh, where he earned his Doctor of Philosophy Degree in education, Dr. Rivas has also served as a consultant to the federal Civil Rights Commission and national delegate to McGraw-Hill Broadcasting Company's Minority Advisory Council.

HIGH SCHOOL JOURNALISTS WILL ATTEND SPECIAL WORKSHOP

Some 40 high school journalism students from throughout Southern California and Hawaii will gather at Cal Poly on Sunday (Aug. 5) to begin two weeks of intensive study of journalism and related fields. The program, which is sponsored by the university and the California Scholastic Press Association, will conclude on Aug. 17. Editors, reporters, and photographers working throughout the nation are graduates of the workshop, which is directed by former Los Angeles Herald Examiner reporter, Ralph Alexander. The journalism workshop began at Cal Poly more than 20 years ago and has been held there each year since that time.

PETITION DEADLINES ARE NEXT TUESDAY

The end of the seventh week of instruction for the Summer Quarter at 4:30 p.m. next Tuesday (Aug. 7) will bring the deadlines for filing of three petitions that have importance for members of the university student body and faculty. That is the final time for filing of the "Petition to Withdraw from a Course," the "Petition to take a Course Credit/No Credit," and the "Petition to Repeat a Course." Information about any of these matters can be obtained by contacting the Records Office, Adm-219, 546-2531.
